My dear Miss Parlow
You were in splendid form on Wednesday
& played magnificently.
I hope at least half of the London Violinists were here to listen.

With you be at home on Sunday

morning next,
day between
eleven & twelve?
I should much
like to call and
bring you an elegy
of mine for Victor

which I am anxious to show you. I should love to hear it
played by you.

Or would you
and your mother
some afternoon
soon come to my studio (one of the most beautiful
rooms in London)

and have tea ?

Please send me
a message &
in the meantime
believe me

With kindest regards

Yours

George Henschel
